FOREWORD

This inventory has appeared as a collateral outcome of the author's work on concise descriptions of such phenomena of a cultural heritage as the World Heritage Cities are. It demanded to find of some boundaries of this activity in the field, where World Heritage Sites can be related to the different living settlements.

After some hesitation we come to the decision that any urban (or rural) settlement, which territory has become the basement of World Heritage Site(s) or of some their part can to be considered in some sense as a World Heritage City. We are glad that this point of view mainly coincides with the last position of the World Heritage Cities Organization.

Such approach makes the scope of our inventory very large as more than a half of the WH Sites' location linked with some of living settlements. But that also demands to classify them in relation to types of their territories.

We hereafter are giving such classification on the seven main types and some sub-types as it explains in the next table, where there is also some statistic data on different WH Sites' types quantity on the condition of the first years of 21st century (the end of 2011 in this ninth edition).

We plan to continue this work on 2012, 2013 and so far.

The evaluation of the World Heritage Cities quantity (as it looks in the end of 2011)

1.	The city as a whole (example - Bamberg, Germany)	53
1-a.	City as a whole, with additional elements, are specially mentioned in the WHSite nomination, in its limits or in surrounding (example -Venice and its lagoon, Italy)	15	68	68
2.	The large part of a city (example - Medina in Fez. Morocco)				262
2-a.	A large part of city with additional elements, are specially mentioned in the WHSite nomination, in its limits or in surrounding (example - Historic centre of St.-Petersburg and related monuments in its vicinities)		See in versions of 2.2. and 2.3.
2.1.	The site has named as a whole city, but actually presents only its large part (example - Valletta, Malta)	3	3
2.2.	The historic city centre, of similar planning formation (example - Historic centre of Krakow, Poland)	107	132	181
2.2-a		25
2.3.	The town-planning complex, system of the areas, street, quays, quarters, etc. (example – three places in Nancy, France)	45	46
2.3-a		1
3.	The cultural landscape in a city (example – Sintra, Portugal)	11	13	13
3-a.	The city - a part of cultural landscape (ex. Hallstatt. Austria)	2
4.	The set of several monuments in a city, which isn't an uniform ensemble or unite complex (an example - a temple, cemetery and private mansion of Confucius in Qufu. China)	66	155	155	155
5.	The separate monument in a city (example - the Hospicio Cabañas in Guadalajara, Mexico)	89
6.	The city in a structure of settlement system, or a large natural-landscape complex (example - Gardaya in the group of settlements of M'Zab Valley, Algeria)	53	53	53	53
7.	The city (small settlement) as the addition to the more important monument or complex inside of the WHSite (example - Chora on the island of Patmos, Greece, where the dominant element of the WHSite is the Monastery of St. John Evangelist)	1	1	1	1
